It seemed probable that if a detective is ordered to Austria to question Poderjay, it will be Arthur C. Johnson, of the alien squad, who will sail for Spain in July in connection with the trial of a Spaniard for murder. He would go to Vienna first.

Decision to send Johnson appeared near because he has been assigned to familiarize himself with all the evidence assembled in the Tuiveson case. The cost of his trip to Vienna would be about $2,000, police said.

Officers were detailed to the apartment building where Miss Tufverson lived after other tenants complained of the curious crowds. Officers at the entrances were instructed that attendants no longer should be allowed to discuss the case.

MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK. Md..
June 24.—(AP)—Bishop Cannon Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, today led more than 4,000 people in urging congress to submit a new probibition amendment.

The proposed amendment to the constitution would empower congress to prohibit, or restrict, the sale of alcoholic liquors in the nation as a whole.

"This will make national prohibition of this national evil a clear cut issue in the election of every congressman and every senator until we have again achieved prohibition," Bishop Cannon declared.

Jimmy has been in many close places before, but in all of his tight spots with an airplane he has never received as much as a scratch except in one previous accident about a year ago at Patterson, when he made a forced landing and was slightly shaken up.

His only other major accident in all of his fantastic career was a boyhood motorcycle accident which blinded him in one eye.

Barnstorming Days.

Wedell was a barnstormer of the early days of the airplane throughout the south. He stunted before fairs and entertained the crowds and has been left stranded in isolated forced landings time and again, but he always pulled out and got there safely. He never reached high school, but had the brain of a genius in the line of airplanes. He learned alone how to fly, and managed to get in exactly one hour of flying instruction in his life from a teacher.

His associates described him as a "miracle of aviation," because he made an air-capital of Patterson, this little town of the Bayou Teche in the heart of the Evangeline country. It was a cypress lumber town of the old days.

DECATUR DEarborn 3162 Misuse of collecting permits has led Game and Fish Commissioner Zack D. There are not more than a dozen or cravet to order the suspension of all 15 real problems of scientific collecting in Georgia so far na the bird life of the state is concerned, it was learned Sunday. Under these permits a collector is empowered to take any number of specimens of the birds of the state, without regard for their rarity or value. In order to stop the useless killing of hundreds of birds each year, this suspension of activity has been ordered for a petiod of 12 months, effective July 1, 1934.

"It is not the purpose of this order." Said Commissioner Cravey. "to stop all scientific work in ornithology in Georgia. News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON.

TARIFF FOOLING WASHINGTON, June 24 .- One man in this government believes something im-portant can be done about foreign trade. He is George Peek. Other officials, who smoke up big statements and gr-r-reat speeches on the subject, will tell you behind their hands that it is just a little

Several insiders actually believe that President Roosevelt started the tariff trade talk only because he had to get Peek out of the AAA and had no place to put him. Wiser ones have a better theory. They point out that the 4dministration was forced to do something on the tariff because of campaign promises. Serious action was impossible because of condtions. What could be better, then, than to have Mr. Peek play around with the issue in a harmless little way?

Maybe some day in a year, or two, or three, the world situa-tion will get around to where something important can be done. In the meantime, Mr. Peek is laying a good groundwork.

That is the real story underneath the bushel baskets full of words and figures now being exhibited by Mr. Peek and the foreign trade ballyhoo squad.

RESULTS The very first of the reciprocal trade treaties will be announced very soon. It is with Colombia. Negotiators completed it several weeks ago, but it cannot be made lic until it is ratified by the Colombian senate. That is just as well. No boats are waiting with steam up for the ratification of that You could carry all the trade it will promote in the side pocket of your car.

It will be followed by treaties with Cuba, several other Latin-American nations and, possibly, two or three European countries. These, like the Colombian treaty, will be all to the good, but not good enough to make any substantial difference in the total vol-

The reason for that was disclosed in the recently published Peek report. The world owes us billions (private and public debts). Mr. Peek concluded that, inasmuch as they cannot pay us, we should sell them more goods. He wants them to pay us with goods

That sounds good, but everyone here knows our main trouble now is that we cannot consume enough to keep our own factories and farms going. Hence, Mr. Peek must confine himself to things we do not produce. That makes it a penny ante game among billion dollar KIDDING Mr. Peek is such an enthusiast that he is not troubled about such things, but he has personal worries just

These center around the fact that, while he is the foreign trade adviser, others seem to be more influential in handling the prob-lem. The leading one is Assistant State Secretary Francis Sayre. He negotiates all treaties. Mr. Peek, not being an official of the state department, cannot have anything to do with making treaties. (The state department saw to that). But all foreign trade agreements must be in the form of treatles.

That leaves Mr. Peek in the position of an adviser in the sec-It is quite clear that someone is fooling someone else on the inside of this thing.

YELLING One of the presidential advisers was suggesting offthe-record the other day:

"I think the greatest recovery step which could be taken in this country right now is for everyone to stop yelling. There should be a moratorium for three months on complaining by business, labor and all those not suffering real hardships. "Here is business, half recovered, bleating about profits, extra hours, union leaders and what-not. Here is labor, working under as good conditions generally as it ever had, howling to high heaven because it cannot have everything it wants.

"If everyone would shut up and work hard just for a trial period, the country would be a lot better off." The gentleman who made these remarks knew well enough what a storm would break around his head if he ever came forward openly with such a proposal.

PATIENCE General Johnson never has to look for trouble. It always seeks him out and he does what he can to see that it finds him.

has some very good friends high in the White House. Their friendship was strained when he fired the head of the union of his own NRA workers (John Donovan), saying in effect: "No one is going to tell me how to run my business." Imagine this, from

The inside story, however, is much more favorable to the general than the published ones. The NRA union group is quite a high tension crowd. They move around the halls in groups of 10 to 20, looking like a mob. One newsman, noticing them recently, went up to see if they carried a rope. The expressions on their faces clearly indicated a lynching was imminent. They were merely going to see Johnson about something.

Their overly aggressive tactics, however, soon exhausted what little patience Johnson has.

COIN TOSS There is an interesting story going the rounds and it may be true, although confirmation is lacking. It is to the effect that both Mrs. Dall and Elliott Roosevelt wanted divorces at the same time a year ago, but that the heads of the family insisted two divorces at once would be too much, that one of the children could get a divorce then and that the other

Mrs. Dall went to see Elliott in the middle west and they cided to toss a coin to decide who should get a divorce first. Elliott won. That, at least, is the story.

When Tolstoy began to preach the doctrine of passive resistance, the world laughed and called him a lunatic.

"The way to handle a bully," said practical men, "is to sock him on the jaw. And the way to handle any number of people is to put the screws on till they give up and agree to behave."

But now at least mankind is learning that physical force is helpless without the support of moral force. Germany depended on physical force alone and went down in ruin

A greater physical force crushed Germany, but the cost to the vicwas infinitely greater than the gain. After the war, when the defeated Germans refused to fulfill the terms peace, France invaded German territory to enforce obedience.

But again the cost was greater than the gain, and when Germany later refused to continue the payment of reparations, there was no talk of "making" her do it. Force can break the spirit and bend the will of one man, but no force can compel a race of people to do anything against their will.

The British people cannot afford to be snobs in the matter of murder. They enjoy all their murders, even of the cheapest and their papers dramatize and exploit the most ordinary killings in a way to disgust the American connoisseur. But they have so few murders that they cannot waste any. If they had 11,000 a year they could cultivate a really fastidious taste.

Here's the latest word from Science on increasing Vim and Energy .. quickly!

Today we call attention again to important facts which were presented to smokers in a recent item in this paper.

Perhaps you overlooked it. We repeat: You can release new vigor, when tired, by smoking a Camel.

This comes from the "energizing effect" in Camels as recently confirmed and described by a famous New York scientific laboratory. Everyone gets fatigued...cross...down in the dumps...when his energy is used up. But the way to turn on more energy has now been pointed out, by actual Camel smokers who tell of their own experiences. And by up-to-date research made in the laboratories of science.

And so-"get a lift with a Camel!" Any time you want to enjoy yourself or restore yourself. Steady smoking need not concern Camel smokers, since the finer, MORE EX-PENSIVE TOBACCOS in Camels never get on

The Atlanta Ribbon & Carbon Com-

The Atlanta Ribbon & Carbon Company has just celebrated its first anniversary as exclusive Georgia distributor for all products of the Ault & Wiborg Carbon & Ribbon Company, of Cincinnati, a subsidiary of the International Printing Ink Corporation, world's largest ink manufacturing concern.

Mr. Herndon reports a tremendously increasing demand on the part of business institutions for Ault & Wiborg products. Not only is this demand gaining by leaps and bounds in Atlanta and Georgia, he asserts, but is being felt throughout the nation.

In addition to the most complete line of carbon paper and ribbons, the Ault & Wiborg Company recently has perfected and introduced a new typewriter ribbon—Process No. 7—which represents a revolutionary improvement over the types heretofore in use. The Process No. 7 ribbon, Mr. Herndon declares, contains 60 per cent more pigment than any other ribbon on the market. It is a perfectly balanced ribbon, employing non-drying oils. The coloring matter, he adds, is in perfect suspension, and there is no free oil to evaporate. The pig-

The Lloyd Cleaners live by the rule that only the thoroughly cleaned garment maintains the luster and life of newness. To insure these factors, they submit every garment to the necessary extra time in the cleaning process to eliminate the deeply imbedded soil as well as the surface soil. This extra time in the cleaning process in no way interferes with prompt service. After the removal of general soils, food and drink spots, grease and oil stains, as well as paint and other persistent spots require painstaking hand work for their removal. Lloyd Cleaners' customers are unanimous in praise of the excellence of the workmanship.

Every garment must pass a stringent inspection before its return to the rule that of the finest cleaning obtainable. Thus combining skill, purity of the finest cleaning fulids and extra time, the Lloyd Cleaners have won and are maintaining the wholehearted approval of their countless Atlanta customers.

"As The Twig Is Bent, The Tree's Inclined"

OFTEN nowadays we hear a father say, "How can I make my boy thrifty and get him to realize the value of a dollar?"

By placing a policy of insurance on his life and helping him during the early years to maintain it, the first step in a program of life-long saving is taken. Wise fathers teach their boys the invaluable habits of thrift and economy by inducing systematic saving—to which end an Equitable policy on the life of the boy is one of the very best means. It gives the boy his first real conception of the economic value of a life—his own for instance—and establishes an early contact with a commodity that may prove to be a big success factor in the years to follow.

Camp Fire Girls Local Council Will Conduct Summer Program

Camp Fire Girls will conduct a city summer program in the Atlanta council this summer, being the sixth consecutive summer that a planned program has been given to Camp Fire Girls and any of their friends who care to participate. Mrs. Millard Beals is the director in charge of the many activities that have been scheduled between June 20 and August 18. While the majority of Camp Fire Girls attended Camp Toccoa during the summer, there are some girls who have to remain at home or stay at camp for only a short time, and it was to assure these girls of a happy, profitable summer that this organized city program was started.

Every Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock handeraft classes will be held at Camp Fire headquarters, fifth floor Davison-Paxon Company, at which time clever articles for use in a girl's room will be made. The theme for the classes will be "Use Your Symbol," and girls will make spatter printed handkerchiefs, shade pulls, plaques and many other interesting things to make their rooms more individual. Girls are requested to bring copies of their symbols to all class meetings.

On Wednesday morning at 10:30 on Wednesday morning at 10:30 or their symbols to all class meetings.

IT'S UP TO THE V'OMEN By Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt

Following is one of a series of 60 articles in which the First Lady of the Land tells what she thinks about a variety of subjects close to the heart of all modern women. Every word has been written by Mrs. Roosevelt herself.

XXXI—THE NEW SOCIAL ORDER

If women are really going to awake to their civic duties, if they are going to accept changes in social living and try to make of this country a real democracy, in which the best of opportunity is available to every child and where the compensations of life are not purely material ones, then we may indeed be seeing the realization of a really New Deal for the people. If this is to come true, it seems to me that the women have got to learn to work together even before they work with men, and they have got to be realistic in facing the social problems that have to be solved. They cannot accept certain doctrines simply because they sound well.

I have often the the women being described by the solved. They cannot accept certain doctrines simply because they sound well.

I have often thought that it sounded so well to talk about women being on an equal footing with men and sometimes when I have listened to the arguments of the National Womans' party and they have complained that they could not compete in the labor market because restrictions were laid upon women's work which were not laid upon men's. I have been almost inclined to agree with them that such restrictions were unjust, until

How Cardui Benefits Middle Life Troubles; Strengthens Women

"I was in a weak and run-down condition, passing through the change of life," writes Mrs. Nannie Bunnell, of Waco, Texas. "My appetite was poor and I was restless at night. One day, I decided to try Cardui. After my first bottle, I felt better and stronger. I continued taking it until I had taken six bottles, after which I felt well on the road to recovery." . . . During the change of life, a woman should be strengthened against the major changes that are taking place. Take Cardui. Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. UNCLE RAY'S CORNER Jungle fowls are ground birds, with colorful feathers. They dwell in bamboo jungles, thickets and forests of India, Burma, the extreme south of China and the East Indies. They can fly, but do much more running than flying, and never soar above the trees. They lay their eggs on the ground, usually from 8 to 12 for each hatching; and they scratch the ground for food, feeding on roots, seeds, berries, worms and other tidbits. The males crow, like the cock of the barnyard. It is believed that jungle fowls were the parents of most, if not all, of the barnyard fowls which we call thickens. They were caught and tamed in India and China more than 3,000 years ago; and proved of high value because the hens kept on laying eggs which people could use for food.

PARENTS OF BARNYARD

FOWLS. Three men in Iudia wanted to catch jungle fowls. They went to a part of the jungle where there was a space not too crowded with plant life, and Red jungle fowl of India.

The next step was to fasten horse-hair "nooses"—about 50 of them—to the cord. When this was finished, the men parted company and walked to points a few hundred feet away. Then with sticks they began to best the bushes.

Dozens of jungle fowls were stirred from their hiding places. Some flew to limbs and perched out of reach, but others ran along the ground. Before long, five of them were tangled in the nooses which had been set for them.

That is a picture of a common method of capturing jungle fowls. Sometimes the nooses are set at a height of about 18 inches, and the birds are caught by their necks instead of by their feet.

In the course of trade, tame fowls were taken to Europe where they proved "popular"—for cock-fighting as well as for egg-laying.

An English traveler, after watching jungle fowls in a forest of India, reported: "They have the same habits as domestic poultry. The cock struts at the head of his hens, and keeps watch over their safety. When disturbed, he flies to a high branch and crows with all his might, while his dames run to hiding places."

The red jungle fowl is given credit for being the "chief parent" of the chicken tribe, but there are other kinds of jungle fowls and much cross-breeding may have gone on in early times. (For general interest section of

Atlanta Divides Double-Header With Memphis, 2-5, 4-3

Browning's 'Scissor Legs' Will Take Clip at Londos' Mat Locks

"Thees-a Jeem" Londos will leap in there tonight against Jim Browning, the Missouri farmer boy who hires others to plow under his corn while he raises cauliflower ear crops.

The title is at stake—the world's heavyweight wrestling title-and I rather imagine that when the final shoulder is slapped tonight it will be the well-tanned hide of the Hero of Hellas which feels it. Which is a long way around to saying that Jim Londos should win.

This would be something of a coincidence with the Madison Square Garden Jinx. The bout is to be held in the Garden bowl on Long Island where a few nights ago Primo Carnera, called the Tall Tower of Gorgonzola by the late W. O. Mc-Geehan, toppled down in one mighty splash of cottage cheese.

No champion has retained his title after venturing into the bowl with it. Max Schmeling was first. Jack Sharkey toppled him on points. I recall yet the look of joy which leaped over the Sailor's face as Joe Humphreys reached for his arm bawling—"The winner and the new champion"—but the roar of the crowd drowned out the rest of it.

Jack Sharkey was next. He ran into what the newspaper boys refer to as "the invisible punch." It was the Carnera uppercut. No one saw it. At least no one has confessed to seeing it. But Sharkey was knocked unconscious for 20 minutes.

And then came Jimmy McLarnin, dropping his welter title to Lightweight Barney Ross.

Carnera was next, going down 11 times across the bloodspattered canvas and taking the most thorough beating any champion has taken since Jack Dempsey ripped big Jess Willard to ribbons in the hot, pine bowl at Toledo on July 4, 1919. The Baer cub was too much for the Italian straw man.

BOTH GOOD BOYS.

Both boys may be commended to your consideration. Jim Londos came to this land of the free and the home of the brave as a kid with a high school education in wrestling and a plasterer's assistant job as a trade.

He was a better wrestler than he was a plasterer. His name was Christopher Theopheles, or something like that. There may be a letter or so missing or misplaced. A newspaper man (those versatile cusses) named him Jim Londos because the name fitted so well in headlines. Irwin S. Cobb once wrote a swell story about a managing editor who helped free a murderess because her name fitted so well in any headline. But that is another

At any rate he had nothing except his own muscles, brain and ability to go on. And he didn't speak our language.

He's worth a half-million or more today. He has never been mixed in any scandal. He has kept his own path and done a good job. Jim Browning was born on a small farm and had to go to work at an early age, 12 years, scuffling for a living for himself and his mother.

The old sob story? Sure, and true, as most of them

He made it. He owns two or three farms, has money in the bank and is well-fixed.

This match will draw better than $100,000 provided it doesn't rain. When all the managers and cutters-in have got their share the boys should have about $35,000

I'd like to bet Carnera didn't end up with that much of his

That, in brief, is an outline of the two. Londos is the veteran of the two although not by many years. He isn't too old.

I say Londos but won't roll over in a faint if Jim Browning nails him with those legs of his.

At any rate, they are to rassle. This puts the Jinx squarely across Jim Browning's ample shoulders. He is recognized by the New York commission-scorned by Londos-as champion.

But that isn't why I think The Greek will win. He's smarter and he's a real wrestler.

SO, FOR THAT MATTER, IS BROWNING.

So, for that matter, is Browning. And a good lad he is. If he should snatch Londos into his leg holds the pride of Old Hellas would be in a very, very bad way.

Because not since Joe Stecher was in his prime has the game had a fellow who could use his legs as well and with as much power as Jim Browning, the Missouri

As for as sentiment goes I should be rooting for the Brown-

As for as sentiment goes I should be rooting for the Browning Boy. He was starting in the wrestling business about the same year this reporter started in the newspaper business.

And one day, years ago, he came around, blushing, and asked would I assist him in getting a license to get married. And so I stood up with the Missouri Mule and saw him married. He still has the same wife. Which is in itself something of a record. He spent quite a lot of years in Australia and came home a real wrestler.

He can use those legs. He has a spin hold with them which is spectacular and punishing—a rare com-them which is spectacular and punishing—a rare combination. He has as much stamina as the man whose picture hangs in half the restaurants of the world. But somehow, when the going gets fast, I think the Greek

And it appears the Grecian glass of fashion and mould of form has the best rifle. So to speak.

THE FIRST RASSLE?

No one knows when the first rassling match was held. Tri-State Meet. Some say it was when Adam wrestled with the Devil in the Garden of Eden. But then not being there I can't give a firsthand report on that.

There was wrestling in the Olympic games back in the dim mists of Greek antiquity. And before that the Egyptians were wrestling and leaving carvings of holds on their tombs. We use some of the holds today.

The Hindus were also wrestling back in the dim ages of history. No doubt the ancestors of Jagot Singh, the Hindu who grapples in Atlanta Wednesday night, posed for some of the carvings which are about 2,000 or more years of age.

Pictures Cause Wholesale Revision of Placings But Not in Final Standings.

By Paul Zimmerman.

LOS ANGELES, June 24 .-- (AP)-Definite proof that the movie camera is far more accurate than the human eye was given today when national collegiate officials made a wholesale revision of the placing in the final races of the N. C. A. A. championships yesterday.

Changes were made in five events from the blanket finish of the 120yard high hurdles on down to the quarter-mile, dethroning one champion crowned only yesterday and shifting the point scores of the teams around with abandon,

Fortunately, the standings of the irst seven teams were not changed, but unfortunately George Fisher, Louisiana State high hurdler, was shorn of his title with the crown being shifted to the head of Sam Kloptock, Stanford.

NO RECORD.

The photographic timing device, tested and certified before and after the meet, probably stole from Glenn Hardin, Louisiana State, his chance for a world's 220-yard low hurdle record. The camera caught him in 23.16 seconds while the timers gave him a new world's record at 22.7 sec-him a new world's record at 22.7 seconds.

Five changes were made in the 120-yard high barriers after a study of the pictures, which showed that Klopstock won by inches with the fourth place finisher, Sam Allen, of Oklahoma Baptist, less than a foot and a half behind. On the basis of the screen tests, Amsden Oliver, Miami, was awarded second; and Fisher third; Allen held his fourth place and Ned Bacon. Denison, retained, fifth, but Lee Haring, Kansas State Teachers, moved up to sixth from seventh and Forrest Wilson. Texas, was dropped to seventh. Incidentally, the camera time was 14.63 seconds as compared to the hand timing of 14.4 seconds.

DUPREE ADVANCES.

The pictures also advanced Dupree a notch in the furion, dash, hoisting him from sixth to fifth and shuntning Ed Hall, Kansas, back to sixth from fifth. The last two places also were changed in the low barriers with W. H. Randow, Texas A. and M., getting fifth and Bacon sixth. The judges had selected them the other way around. In the quarter-mile, Jimmy Lu Valle, University of California, at Los Angeles, was shoved from fifth, com-Angeles, was shoved from fitth, completely out of the picture to seventh while Ed Ablowich, Southern California, a 1932 Olympic games star, advanced to fifth.

Cunningham, who went unplaced in the half, was caught by the camera in 1 minute, 56 seconds, as compared with Charles Hornbostel's victory at 1:51.9.

The revised point standings: Stanford, 63; Southern California 57 7-20; Louisiana State 43; Marquette 20; Indiana 20; Fresno State 18; Manhattan 18; New York U. 17; Miami 16: Oregon 14: U. C. L. Yates Is Rated With Veterans As Meet Opens

By James L. Renick.

COUNTRY CLUB, CLEVELAND, O., June 24.—(P)—Over the undulating, forest-fringed course of the country club, 123 collegiate golfers will start tomorrow morning the week-long battle that constitutes the thirty-sixth annual tournament of the In-tercollegiate Golf Association of America.

All day today the course was scattered with collegians. Some were busy taking their game apart to see why it didn't click while others were satisfied and hoped it would remain satisfied and hoped it would remain as it was for a week.

In the latter category were Walter Emery, 21-year-old junior from the University of Oklahoma, the defending champion; and Charles "Chuck" Koosis, the Hungarian lad from the University of Michigan, holder of the western conference title and considered a favorite to win the intercollegiate crown. collegiate crown.

Few cards were turned in today and the ones that were reported meant lit-tle as the lads were intent on perfecting their games. The majority of those who played drove two balls on each tee, played the best, tried putts over and even conceded some doubtful ones.

Besides Emery there are several other "veterans" of last year's campaign at Buffalo. Included among these are such players as Charley Yates, of Georgia Tech: Johnny Banks, of Notre Dame, who tied for the medal honors last year: Law Weatherwax and Oliver Transue, of Yale: John Payne and Ed White, of Texas, Vice Fehlig, of Notre Dame, and several others.

Sarazen, Kirkwood Card 69's in Practice To Become Favorites.

By Gayle Talbot.

SANDWICH, Eng., June 24.—(P) That inseparable American pair, Gene Sarazen and Joe Kirkwood, treated themselves to a brace of 60s this hot day over the Royal St. George's course in the final tuneup for the British open golf championship, starting tomorrow.

Internationally famous for the tricks he can make a golf ball do, Kirkwood turned in his sizzling round, only one over the course rec-ord, in the morning while Sarazen chose the afternoon to take the tough chose the afternoon to take the tough layout apart.

Sarazen was hitting every shot beautifully for the benefit of a gallery of several hundred. Kirkwood, playing with the defending champion, Denny Shute, of Philadelphia, and the British amateur, Francis, Francis, preeded only a pair of easy four. needed only a pair of easy fours on the last two holes for a record-smash-ing 67, but dubbed his approach shots to both greens.

TURNS IN 33. TURNS IN 33.

Sarazen turned in a 33 for the 3,225-yard front nine and a 36 for the 3,255-yard front nine and a 36 for the 3,551-yard trip home. Kirkwood's nine-hole scores were 31 and 38.

Later in the day Kirkwood toured the course again, this time posting an approximate 74. Shute still was away off form and his chances of retaining the title he won in a play-off with Craig Wood last year were not considered bright by most experts.

The fourth member of the American "Big Four," MacDonald Smith, of Nashville, apparently well satisfied with his practice form, took things easy on a hotel verandah as did most of the leading British contenders.

Although Sarazen, the pre-tourney favorite, Shute, Kirkwood and Smith form the major part of the American threat for the title players from the United States have won for 10 consecutive years, there are three others in the record entry list of 313—

The low 100 and ties in the qualifying round will go into the first 18-hole round of the championship proper Wednesday. The second 18 will be played Thursday after which the field will be reduced again, to the low 60 and ties. The final 36 holes will be played Friday. All four rounds of the championship will be played over the Royal St. George's course.

Shute, Mehlhorn, Kirkwood, both Sweenys and Grant will play the Royal St. George's links tomorrow and Royal Cinque Ports Tuesday. Sarazen, MacDonald Smith and Lacy will reverse that program.

NEW YORK, June 24.-(UP)-Babe Ruth polled out his eleventh home run of the year today to lead the Yankees to a shutout victory over Chicago, which kept them within a game of the leading Detroit Tigers. The Yankees won, 5-0.

The sacks were loaded when Ruth caught one of Sad Sam Jones' slants in the second, and it washed up the ball game. Myril Hoag had singled in a run in the first, and with a fiverina advantage, the Yankees coasted through. Answer:

It is not hard for a woman to convince the man she loves that she loves him, provided he loves her. One of the glorious and satisfying features of love is that it carries conviction with it. It expresses itself in a thousand articulate and inarticulate as all ways and it writes at the end of each expression in clear letters, those we, as children, put at the end of a proved gower rule and the plays and give Speer a chance. to classify him as joo owner said.
"Was—was you thinkin'—of buyin' a dog like this one for your little boy?" Moy's owner asked timidly.
Officer Calhoun's face clouded.

"No," he said soberly. "I'm sorry, folks, but this boy's mother says that Moy bit him. I hate to take him away from you, but I must. It's the law. We'll keep him for 21 days, then if he's all right we'll bring him back. I hope you'll understand," the policeman said as he backed out of the door with Moy under his arm.

At Birmingham station, Calhoun carrying the diminutive Moy under his arm, went straight to the office of Captain Forsander.

"This is Moy—the dog that bit the kid over on Young street," Calhoun explained.
"Quit your kidding. I know my dogs. This little guy wouldn't bite any one, unless."

"Littless what?" Calhoun wanted to "No," he said soberly. "I'm sorry, monseigneaur at ceremonies Wednesday, which also will celebrate the silver jubilee of his priesthood.

Solemn high mass will be celebrated at the church at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning and the Most Rev. Michael J. Keyes, bishop of the Georgia diocese, will be in charge of the ceremony. Father Clark was made a monseigneur last May by the pope, and therefore is a domestic prelate and a member of the official papal family.

A reception honoring Father Clark will be held at St. Anthony's at 8 o'clock Wednesday night, where he will receive the congratulations of fellow priests and friends. Many priests of the Atlanta diocese will be present and several will come here from New York and Pennsylvania to attend the ritual and reception. Father Clark is widely known over Georgia and has been pastor of St. Anthony's for a number of years. His appointment as mouseigneur by the pope was a signal honor.
